Applicant Guidance Notes

An online basic Disclosure Scotland (DS) check can be completed by accessing the internet from any device that has this facility. This includes a smart phone, tablet, laptop or PC. It is supported on the latest versions of all modern browsers; however, we do not recommend access via Internet Explorer as this browser is unsupported both by our technology and soon by Microsoft also. If you do not own your own computer, you can go to any internet café or local library. Please be aware that you must complete your application form in full, as part completed applications form cannot be saved.

Starting your application

You can start your application one of two ways depending on how you have been invited by the employer requesting this check to be carried out on you.

Option 1 – via a direct link within an email invitation

If you have received an email invitation containing a direct link to completing your application, simply click the link contained in your email and skip to page 5 of this guide.

Option 2 – accessing our system through your browser

Please enter the following address in the web browser:

<https://disclosure.capitarvs.co.uk/care/appRouting.do>

If you are not taken directly to the ‘Start New Application’ page, please click on ‘Start Application’ in the box entitled ‘Basic Disclosure Application’ to enter the system and start your application.

You will now be taken to the basic routing screen in order to determine whether your basic applications needs to be processed by Disclosure Scotland or the DBS based on where you live/work.

For applicants based in Scotland who require a basic Disclosure Scotland check, the answers to these questions will point to ‘Scotland’.

Basic Application Route

Basic disclosure applications are processed by either the Disclosure & Barring Service (DBS) or Disclosure Scotland depending on where you live/work.

It is vital that your application is processed by the correct government agency as they work within two separate legal systems and have different rehabilitation periods in Scotland compared to England/Wales. Failure to send your application to the correct agency will result in your application being processed with incorrect Rehabilitation of Offenders Act rules applied.

In order to ensure that your basic application is submitted to the correct government agency, please complete the questions below so that we can ensure your application is processed correctly.

You have now completed your application form and you will be given a reference number. Please make a note of this number for reference purposes. If you entered an email address onto your application form you will receive a confirmation email containing these details.

Your application will be processed by your employer once they have verified your identity. Please see below for guidance on identity verification.

Next step - Identity Verification

In line with Disclosure Scotland's code of practice all applicants requiring a Disclosure Scotland check must have their identity verified.

How do I have my identity verified?

There are two ways in which your identity can be verified, either digitally and remotely via our certified identity service provider (IDSP) or by providing original identification to your employer. Your employer will inform you how they wish to verify your identity. If you are verifying your identity digitally, you will receive a unique link by email to upload your documents and a selfie to our IDSP platform. If you are verifying your identity manually, please provide original identification to your Company's Nominated Person (usually Recruitment or HR Manager) and provide identification as listed in the acceptable ID table (see table below). Your application form will be processed by your employer once they have verified your identity, and then sent onto Disclosure Scotland.
